

Introduction

*Tracked this revolution 40 yrs; run 'Sex-proofing Kids' seminars.

*Shared my home with a lovely gay man who died of AIDS.

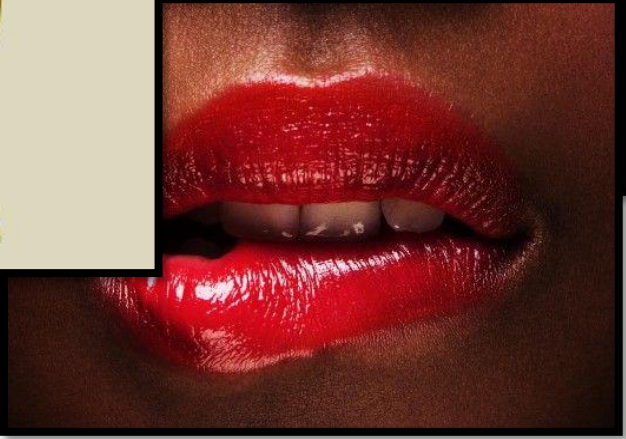

*A close bi friend fell in love with me but feared rejection. I declined the sex, kept the friend.

*Have personally known three MAPS (Minor Attracted People). MAPs and other sexualities are emerging now.

*Think 'CAT' (Counter Argument Training) for the next few minutes.

Hopefully this content will prove useful in pushing back.

Why are we here? Superficial reasons include:

But fundamentally, we are here because

- *of the silence of medical professionals: whistle-blowing is too costly.
- *leaders are unwilling to expose the realities and downsides.
- *those with gay loved ones fear making things worse for them. They know their struggles and pain!
- *of fear being labelled 'dirty-minded' or 'anti-Christian'; an 'ick' factor.

But not saying says nothing should be said. So we have *youngsters being are marinated in all things 'queer' (beyond LGB):

'Whoever captures the kids owns the future' (gay activist P. Warren).

*dissent from LGBT 'orthodoxy' treated as 'terrorism', with Jesus' teaching becoming irrelevant, at best, and 'hate speech' at worst.

*people's sexual health and relationships are being damaged.

Most importantly, we can win. God made us, our genitalia and sex, and pronounced it very good! The Opposition is not the Good Sex people: we are.

Our kids need to hear this!

Initial thoughts: 'High-risk lifestyles'

Selected factors about sex, regardless of 'orientation'

*AOD. Age of (Sexual) Debut. Ideally: Post PFC maturation.

*Numbers of partners, and sequential or simultaneous? Ideally: one lifetime partner. More partners, higher frequency, greater risks and potential damage.

*Different kinds. Anal Intercourse, esp. RAI---Receptive Anal Intercourse, far more hazardous. Grossman, Teaching. Also <https://www.verywellhealth.com/what-is-the-risk-of-hiv-from-anal-sex-49605>; <https://www.lgbthero.org.uk/fs140-this-boy-is-a-bottom>; <https://yourfriendnala.com/>

Selected reasons AI is hazardous: Do the science!

- *Fragile anal sphincter muscle. Poppers (a drug) used to relax the anal sphincter muscle. <https://www.lgbthero.org.uk/poppers>
- *Porous, gossamer-thin rectal lining with no natural lubrication. Tissue microtears not uncommon, allowing stool access to the blood stream.
- *Re. STIs. Stool contains pathogenic bacteria, viruses, parasites etc.
- *Re. HIV: Microfold cells in the rectal wall transport HIV to the lymphatic system and then out to the body. Also rectal area: higher pH, which does not inactivate HIV.

How is this healthy?
Answer: it isn't. No one should be doing this, nor should our kids be taught how to do it
'safely'.

Great medical advice for heterosexuals. No anal sex and 'closed', exclusive relationships. <https://yourfriendnala.com/>

Public health data from the MSM [Men who have Sex with Men] UK community

~3.1% of the pop. 16+ identified as LGB (ONS, 2020) but account for 45% of new HIV infections (THT, 2022), 71% of increasingly-hard-to-treat new gonorrhoea cases and 80% of new syphilis cases.

‘Committed, stable, faithful’ SS relationships can be closed or open. They are not inherently closed. So why is the CofE blessing them?

Traditional marriage is ‘closed’, exclusive, monogamous, one sexual partner till death. Though some deviate, this has been the norm. For Peter McGraith, the UK’s first gay man to marry, gay men are pioneers in creating better, more ‘mature, rational and honest relationships’. This includes being ‘open’: ‘over 50% of gay men's relationships are sexually non-exclusive’.

'Committed, faithful, stable' SS relationships II

Leading UK gay men's site, LGBT Hero, agrees. It comments on how over half their respondents had outside sex. In its 'Infidelity and the gay community: Do gay men struggle to be faithful?' the answer is yes. But monogamy seems to be part of the root problem, as it is still the norm (image following slide) <https://www.lgbthero.org.uk/fs164-infidelity-and-the-gay-community>. A GLOBAL MULTIDISCIPLINARY APPROACH

How the information above can be used to pushback.

Below is untrue: every sexuality, relational form and kind of 'love' is not welcome here. LGBT groups like Stonewall 'discriminate', so we can too.

Also: Stonewall discriminates against the growing, vibrant X Gay community!

What needs to happen now? Answer the claims in After the Ball. No one is 'born gay', gay is not the new black, and many can and do develop their heterosexual potential. X LGBT voices are vital here!
